

A black and white line drawing of a heavy-duty metal trunk. The trunk is shown from a three-quarter perspective, with its lid open and hinged at the back. The interior of the trunk is divided into three compartments by two vertical dividers. The leftmost compartment is the largest, and the two on the right are smaller and of equal size. The trunk has a thick, reinforced frame and a latch mechanism on the front edge of the lid. The lid is currently open, revealing the interior compartments.
